

Suggested Interview Questions

1. How did you end up in the Army and Vietnam? Were you drafted?
2. You were a 1st lieutenant of the ‘famed’ 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile), also called “The First Team”. How did the division earn those names?
3. You were involved with many helicopter combat assault missions in Vietnam. What was that experience like for you?
3. When did you come face-to-face with the enemy?
4. What was the hardest thing you had to do as a platoon leader?
5. What was your day-to-day activity like?
7. You have written your experiences and perspective in Vietnam Combat: Firefights and Writing History, what were the reasons why you wrote this book? And why now?
8. What was the most unusual thing that happened to you during the war?
9. What are some of the most humorous things that happened to you?
10. What was your life like when assigned to the 14th Military History Detachment?
11. What was it like to prepare an after-action battle report?
12. Why are the words “Welcome Home” such an important greeting for Vietnam veterans?
13. Many servicemen arriving back in the states from Vietnam were not greeted well. What was your experience like?
14. What is your message to others who served in Vietnam?
15. How can one purchase Vietnam Combat? What is the website?

You can schedule an interview or request a copy by contacting Daniel Yesilonis at daniel.yesilonis@casematepublishers.com.

Additional information and resources available at www.RobinBartlettAuthor.com